The British Columbian.

NEW WESTMINSTER, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1863.
OUR RELATIONS WITH THE INDIANS.

If the act of Great Britain in taking possession of the territories which she now holds on the Pacific Coast can be justified on moral grounds at all, it is by supposing that in doing so she would in lieu of the territorial wealth which she thus secured impart to the aboriginal inhabitants her superior civilization, social manners and religion, and at the same time so guard and protect them during their transition state as to prevent our coming amongst them from being a curse instead of a blessing. It is useless, as far as the morality of the thing is concerned, to plead discoverers' claims, for these claims only exist in reference to other supposed discoverers, not at all in regard to the inherent rights of the natives of the discovered country. Nor will it be sufficient to assert a right from the fact that the inhabitants, on account of the paucity of their numbers, are unable, and because of their indolence are unwilling, to fully occupy and develop the resources of their territory. It is not the province of Britain or any other nation to dictate to the inhabitants of other lands how they shall occupy and use their ancestral possessions, to which they have as good a natural and moral right as that of the English aristocrat who hunts or farms amid his parks and plains in his own native land. The doctrine of "manifest destiny" would at once meet the case south of the 49th parallel, but is not recognized by our jurists. That "might makes right" would be a convenient way of getting over the difficulty but for the circumstance that it is untrue. We repeat it, upon no ground can we at all justify the position which our nation has assumed in this country but upon that which we have stated above; and even upon that ground it is not quite clear that we have any moral right to occupy these lands before they are freely ceded to us by their original owners, or to enforce the observance of our laws upon the natives without their consent in some way expressed. But our present object is not to treat our readers to a homily on ethics. The country has been taken possession of, whether rightly or wrongly; and the great question now is how are we to discharge the sacred duty we owe to these Indians, and which we morally assume in taking possession of the soil? What are the specific obligations we owe them, and how may we honestly and honorably meet them? That they, the Indians, have claims upon us, claims righteous and reasonable upon our consideration, we need not repeat. The great law "as ye would that men should do unto you do ye even so unto them" applies in this case, and deserves more attention from the Home and Colonial authorities than it has yet received.

That we may form correct ideas as to what should be done to render the natives of this country enlightened, respectable and virtuous members of society, and loving loyal subjects of our gracious Queen, we must first rapidly glance at their present position with reference to ourselves; and the picture which we here see is certainly one we would wish to avoid were it possible to discharge the duty devolving upon us as a public journalist by avoiding it. With regard, then, to the present position of this unfortunate people, their hunting grounds are fast being rendered entirely unavailable to the Indians. Their little potato-patches are even in some instances wrested from them, and the whole country with few exceptions is open for settlement and sale. Then again their fishing is seriously interfered with by the navigation of the rivers and the entry upon that occupation by the white men. The fur trade upon which some of them relied in some measure for support is fast coming to an end. Thus to a very considerable extent their primitive means of subsistence are being done away or rendered unavailable to them. It is quite true that they are in some degree compensated for this by being able in different capacities to serve us at remunerative wages, while the produce of their gardens and the spoil of the spear, gun and trap will find a fair market, and some of them—comparatively few—will thus be put in possession of the means of making themselves perhaps more comfortable than they were before. But these advantages are greatly diminished, and in some instances rendered a curse to them, by the temptations and vices which we have introduced among them. The introduction of ardent spirits, which should not for a moment have been tolerated by any Christian Government, has degraded, demoralized and damned hundreds if not thousands already, while the licentiousness and prostitution consequent upon their intercourse with us have superinduced diseases and miseries amongst them which have more than decimated the whole native population. We need not be astonished at the occasional manifestations of revenge and insubordination among the Indians which we are called upon to chronicle. The great wonder is that more property has not been destroyed and more blood shed. The comparative immunity which we enjoy is perhaps attributable more to their dread of our superior prowess than to any peculiar love they bear us. Untamed braves—chiefs whose voice once awed thousands, and at whose command armed slaves sprang forth to revenge every insult, have seen themselves degraded and enslaved by rum against their better judgment, until their subjects have thrown off their authority with contempt. At the same time their daughters have been lured on by the white man's wiles to lives of shameless vice and perpetual misery, and even their lawful wives enticed away from them to become the obedient paramours of the proud invaders of their soil. Is it any wonder that men with passions and pride in their hearts would refuse to submit to such outrages—and we assure our readers that the facts are not over stated—especially when they have ascertained that our laws are practically insufficient to afford them protection and redress? Is it at all surprising that they occasionally resort to their own lex talionis and inflict—it may be upon the innocent—the punishment which they consider we deserve? And yet when they have done so, and under provocative circumstances violated our laws, there has been, we fear, too little consideration given to the causes and provocations in the case. Even when convicting evidence has been liable to a doubt there may not have been as much leniency shown as if the culprit had been of a more enlightened and consequently a more guilty man. In this connection we most earnestly protest against the present mode of trying Indians for infractions of our laws by the same rules of procedure as in ordinary cases without in some way securing for the accused competent counsel versed in those laws. We have seen cases in which, had such a common sense and manifestly just precaution been taken, we are fully convinced that evidence would have been elicited which would have modified if not entirely reversed the verdict of the jury, who were of course bound by oath to find their verdict according to the evidence given in the case. We fear that our Government is guilty of criminal neglect in regard to this matter. Possible precautions have not been made use of to protect the Indians from demoralization, and, as far as we know, nothing has yet been attempted on the part of the Government to directly improve them so that they may be the better able to compete with their more favored neighbors, and more wisely discern between what is for their good and what will tend to their destruction. It is evident, then, that while we are appropriating to ourselves their magnificent country and enriching ourselves from its golden hills and fertile valleys, we are by no means doing our duty to its original inhabitants. We have yet to fulfil our promise—morally given—and undertake the arduous, but far from hopeless, task of elevating, socially and religiously, those whom we are fast dispossessing of their fair country. What is required and what we may do in that direction we will, to the best of our ability, show in a subsequent writing. We close the present article by stating the fact that whatever is to be done for these poor creatures must be begun at once, else there will be none left to do for. They will have passed away, mown down by the scythe of a cruel civilization, and we shall have to answer that appalling interrogation "where is thy brother?"

A VISITATION.

The Gold Escort made its debut in British Columbia yesterday morning; and as the men strutted about the streets with their rusty swords, dangling awkwardly at their sides one could not but note the frowns and muttered curses which they excited. We have for four years had to deplore the "insulting despotism" of Governor Douglas; but during that period it has not fallen to our lot to chronicle an act so utterly indefensible and so glaringly insulting as the one now under consideration. During '61 a Gold Escort was organized without being asked for by the people, and proved a disgraceful failure, so much so, indeed, that one would have thought its fate would have proved a wholesome warning to the Executive. But it would seem '63 is destined to witness a reproduction of a similar farce. Unasked by the people of British Columbia, nay, against their expressed wishes, this second Escort has been organized in Victoria and manned in Victoria for the especial benefit of the people of that town.

It is true we are told through the Colonist, by an anonymous scribbler, that the people of this Colony have asked for it; and in support of his assertion he pulls from his pocket a time-worn petition given to him "last winter to obtain more signatures and present the same to His Excellency." It will be observed that this petition asks for an Escort with a Government guarantee against loss, and alludes to the failure of the previous one as the result of the absence of such guarantee, and at the end of it figure some half dozen pea-nut merchants, a Doctor, and the Stipendiary Magistrate!

We would ask Mr. "Wharf Street" why this document was not more respectfully signed, and why it was kept in his breeches' pocket instead of being presented to His Excellency? He says "unavoidable causes have so far prevented me from carrying out the wishes of my up-country friends," i.e. obtaining more signatures to it. Were not the unavoidable causes the refusal of legitimate British Columbians to sign it? And then it is evident even these half dozen men with their medical attendant and magisterial confrere would not have asked for an Escort unless the Government would give a guarantee against loss. Such a guarantee is not given. The same defect which is assigned as the cause of failure in the previous Escort exists in this. Such an attempt to prove the case only makes the matter worse. Mr. "Wharf Street," Irishman like, undertakes to prove that the Governor has been asked by the people of this Colony to establish the Escort by telling the public that he has a petition in his pocket which the Governor never saw, and that petition, by implication, condemns such an Escort as the one just organized. The fact is, this Escort has been formed at the instance, and for the benefit of, the Bank of British Columbia and a very few Victoria traders, and every attempt to prove the contrary will but add to the turpitude of the outrage.

We know the miners of British Columbia too well to believe they will be silly enough to entrust their treasure to a lot of "greenies" hurriedly thrown together, destitute alike of experience and a knowledge of the country through which they have to travel. If the Government would secure the owners against loss, some would doubtless avail themselves of it notwithstanding the high charge. But as it is, no man of common sense would dream of such a thing. The Bank alone alluded to will, of course, make use of the Escort, as it will be necessary for them to remit frequently, and this organization will save them both time and expense; but beyond that and small sums sent by traders in connection with Victoria houses, the Escort will carry but little gold, not as much, we opine, as will pay the expenses of the first trip.

As for the Escort serving the purpose of a mail medium, time enough to consider that when we see at what rate it will travel. The first one it was hoped would carry the mails; but it was found that miners on foot out-travelled it. This one may possibly use more dispatch, but we have no guarantee that it will, and we have long since learned to place but little confidence in anything having its origin at James Bay. We can only view the Escort at present as one of the most insulting and barefaced swindles yet perpetrated upon the people of this Colony, and it would need to do wonderful service in order to reconcile the people to it. And another such act would suffice to incite the people, few and weak as they are, to open resistance.

Poetry.

'Tis all for the Best.

BY INOLINDA CLIFFORD.

Should thy path be o'erclouded, and sunshine ne'er gleam
But a few fitful moments; O ne'er must thou deem That troubles will always thy spirit molest; But confide in thy Father's love; all's for the best.

Disappointments are sent to enoble the soul—
If we bravely look up when the waves o'er us roll, We shall see they were sent but our moments to bless;
For our Father thus wills it, 'tis all for the best!

Should hopes that you cherished be blasted at morn, When you fancy that gladness will soon o'er you dawn;
O ne'er let it cause thee a moment's unrest, But fervently utter, 'tis all for the best!

Should friends you love best, far away from thee go,
And a thought fill thy heart that you'll ne'er meet below,
Still let no repining enter thy breast;
'Tis thy Father's good pleasure, and all's for the best.

Should friends you love best, far away from thee go,
And a thought fill thy heart that you'll ne'er meet below,
Still let no repining enter thy breast;
But look up above and say, all's for the best!

FEMALE PRINTERS.—Female printers have now had a long and fair trial in the United States, and it is at last generally confessed that they are a failure. Their practice of the art does not extend. There is no reason in the world why women should not become compositors, if they had not men to compete with. They can set up types as quickly and correctly as men, but the mischief is that, with few exceptions, when they become proficient in their art, they go and get married, and when the woman is married the compositor is as good as shot. There could never be much profit in training men for compositors, and, as soon as they grew skillful, drafting them from "the case" into the army or navy. Yet a transformation as thorough and as wasteful takes place when the compositor becomes a wife and a mother. This danger of the entire skill of a long apprenticeship being lost in a day would always of itself operate as a high differential duty in favor of male over female labor. But in the work itself the tenacity and strength of the man gives him many other advantages over the woman. For instance, a compositor works with more ease standing than sitting, but a woman cannot stand and work through a whole day as a man does.
The physical endurance demanded of compositors in many newspaper offices altogether exceeds the strength of a woman's organization. We know compositors who once a week, and unavoidably, work from the morning of one day through the night and into the morning of the next. Such a strain is very exhausting, and as a compositor remarked to us, "We never feel right afterwards until we have been twice through the sheets," or, in other words, have been twice to bed. Now, a compositor who is able to exert himself in this way at a pinch will always have the preference over one who cannot. There might be room for women as printers if male labor were scarce, but in America, where such labor is much scarcer than here, women do not find that they can compete with men; and certainly in England, where there is a superabun-dant of the better article, there is little provision in bringing the inferior into market. The experiment in London which is going forward under Miss Emily Faithful's management is not one, for these and many other reasons, which we regard with any expectation. We are not in the least surprised that the Victoria Press should turn out a well printed volume; there is nothing to hinder. But we see no chance for the women as printers alongside men. The Victoria Press is a philanthropic speculation which will never bear inspection on economical or commercial grounds. Those who wisely help women to educate them for occupations in which they need as little fear the competition of men as men need fear theirs in the printing-office.—Literary Budget.

OUR FOREFATHERS.—The stately dames of Edward IV.'s court rose with the lark, dispatched their dinner at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and shortly after eight in the evening were wrapped in slumber. How would these reasonable people (reasonable at least, in this respect,) be astonished could they but be witnesses of the present distribution of time amongst people of fashion! What a contrast, too, between the materials of the morning meal, A. D. 1550, when Queen Elizabeth's maid of honor began the day with a round of beef, or a red herring and a flagon of ale, and 1863, when the sportsman, and even the day-laborer, frequently breakfast on tea. Swift has sarcastically observed that the world must be exceeded before a washerwoman can sit down to breakfast—first, by a voyage to the East for tea, and then to the West for sugar. In the Northumberland Household Book for 1512, we are informed that a "thousand pounds was the sum annually expended in housekeeping. This maintained 166 persons, and the wheat was then 5s.
8d. per quarter. The family rose at 6 in the morning; my lord and lady had set on the table for breakfast, at 7 o'clock in the morning, a quart of beer, a quart of wine, two pieces of salt fish, half a dozen red herrings, four white ones, and a dish of sprats! They dined at ten, supped at 4 in the afternoon; the gates were all shut, 9 and no further ingress or egress permitted." May we not exclaim: "The times are changed!"

Lawyers' mouths are like turnpike gates—never opened except for pay.

IMPORTANT TO WILLIAMS CREEK MINERS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned will be prepared to furnish LUMBER of all descriptions suitable for Building, Flooring, Sluicing, Rifles, &c., on Williams Creek and Jack of Clubs Creek, on or before the fifteenth of May, 1863, without delay, as they are erecting a Water Power Mill that will turn out from ten to fifteen thousand feet of Lumber per day.
We hope by giving this timely notice that we may secure the trade and greatly benefit those who may favor us with their patronage, as we will be prepared to furnish Lumber at greatly reduced prices, which all must acknowledge will be of great benefit to the business, as well as the Mining community, in a section of country where Lumber has up to the present time been sold at the enormous price of $250.00 per thousand, owing entirely to the article having to be hauled and labor commanding such high prices. With the use of this Mill we hope to place all parties wanting Lumber in possession of it immediately, thereby facilitating their mining operations greatly, knowing as all do that business as well as mining has been greatly retarded, from not being able to procure Lumber when most needed.
And we hope with the aid of our Mill, together with the Williams Creek Ditch, which will be completed in time to furnish all with water in the Hill Claims and not interfere with the Creek Claims, also, the surplus waters of Jack of Clubs Creek and Ground Hog Lake turned over the divide into Williams Creek, will enable hundreds, if not thousands, who from the scarcity of water, without the aid of the above named ditch could not profitably do so, to work their Claims; also the great and beneficial influence which must inevitably accrue to all, both Hill and Creek Claims, from the great and costly bed-rock Flume, being at present partly constructed, for the purpose of carrying off effectually the tailings that must, with the advancement of mining on the whole Creek and hills on both sides of the Creek, naturally fill up and prove a great annoyance, giving to the community of water, there not being a sufficient quantity most of the season running naturally in Williams Creek to accomplish the great work; but with the assistance of the surplus waters of Jack of Clubs and Ground Hog Lake waters flowing into Williams Creek and the great bed-rock Flume to carry everything through it, will not only prove of incalculable benefit to all, but place Williams Creek beyond the rivalry of any other mining locality in the Cariboo country.

EASE AND HEALTH TO THE SICK HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

Universal approbation has been awarded to this famous Ointment for its efficiency in removing diseases of the skin. For scrofula, scurvy, scald heads, and all eruptions of the skin, both in infancy and mature years, no remedy can be applied which so quickly cures as Holloway's Ointment. In the nursery it should always be at hand to ease the many skin affections to which the majority of children are liable. In all heat and tooth rashes, the Ointment is wonderfully cooling and curative. To soldiers, sailors, miners, and travellers in foreign lands, it is invaluable.

SORES, WOUNDS, BAD BREASTS, BAD LEGS.

In this class of maladies, an improvement in the appearance of the disease of the patient, follows the first dressing with the Ointment.

It must not only be smeared on the wound, or sore, but be briskly rubbed for some inches round about the diseased swollen or painful parts. It will penetrate to the blood vessels, nerves, and muscles, and even to the bone, and will exercise the most wholesome, healing, and purifying power over every tissue requisite for thorough reparation. The effect of the Ointment is increased by fomenting with warm water before the Ointment is rubbed in; but sores, when healing, should never be cleaned with sponge or anything else, as the young and new flesh which appears like a cream, would be washed away.

BLOOD TO THE HEAD, APOPLEXY.

Nothing gives so much ease in these complaints from which so many suffer, as Holloway's cooling and healing Ointment. When rubbed upon the spine, it acts most energetically in drawing surplus blood from the brain; even to children in teething, this Ointment has a miraculous effect in preventing fits and convulsions, so often attendant on tooth-cutting. The Pills should be used according to the directions.

RHEUMATISM, GOUT, STIFF JOINTS.

Every one suffering from these painful affections should use this purifying Ointment, as it has restored thousands from a life of torture, after every other means had been tried in vain. The Ointment should be well rubbed into the skin at least twice a day, after it has been properly fomented with warm salt water, and dried.
The inflammation soon yields, and the patient no longer helpless, resumes his accustomed occupation.

GLANDULAR SWELLINGS, BRONCHITIS, MUMPS, SORE THROAT, AND DIPHTHERIA.

To combat these diseases with success, a remedy is required which will have the whole absorbent system under its control. Such a remedy is Holloway's Ointment, when rubbed on the skin; it penetrates to the glands, and removes any obstruction or impurity which may be impeding their healthy action. This Ointment acts on the very mainspring of life, for through the glands pass all new matter required for the body's reparation; in all the above class of cases, the Ointment and Pills used conjointly will act so searching, and certainly, as to effect cures in the most deplorable cases.

FISTULAS AND PILES.

All inflammations and ulcerations of sensitive parts may be presently relieved, and ultimately cured, by the diligent use of this cooling and healing Ointment, aided twice daily by bathing the parts in cold water. Immediate ease springs from this treatment; perseverance is necessary to effect a permanent cure.

ASTHMA, SHORTNESS OF BREATH.

In these complaints the Ointment should be well rubbed twice a day upon the chest, and between the shoulders; it will penetrate to the lungs, stimulate them to renewed exertions, prevent stagnation of blood, moderate the pulsations of the heart, regulate the current of air through the bronchial tubes, and thus effect a permanent cure.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:—

Bad Legs. Chapped Hands. Scalds.

Bad Breasts. Contracted and Sore Nipples.

Burns. Stiff Joints. Sore Throats.

Bunions. Elephantiasis. Skin Diseases.

Bite of Mosquitoes. Fistulas. Scurvy.
